

Availability Report: All Starters Available Against Western Michigan

After both left guard Donovan Jackson and Mike linebacker Cody Simon were unavailable for the Buckeyes Week 1 contest against Akron, they are no longer listed on the injury report for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff against Western Michigan.

All of Ohio State's starting lineup is coming into the game against the Broncos available to play, with only four Buckeyes who will be unavailable.

Whether Jackson and Simon will play any snaps tonight is unclear, but they will be ready to go if their number is called.

The four Buckeyes out were all on the availability report last week with Devontae Armstrong, Jayden Bonsu and Reis Stocksdale unavailable for the game along with TC Caffey, who is out for the season.

Here is the full availability report:

Questionable

- None

Out

- OL Devontae Armstrong
- SAF Jayden Bonsu
- WR Reis Stocksdale
- RB TC Caffey (out for season)