

Availability Report: Henderson, JSN Remain Out; Dawand Jones A Game-Time Decision

Ohio State will continue to be without the services of running back TreVeyon Henderson and wide receiver Jaxon Smith-Njigba at Indiana, and the Buckeyes may also be down a right tackle, as Dawand Jones is listed as a game-time decision.

Running back Chip Trayanum is also listed as a game-time decision, meaning the Buckeyes could be with just two scholarship running backs - Miyan Williams and Dallan Hayden - as they try to get the ground game going against the Hoosiers.

The Buckeyes did receive some good news, as cornerback Cameron Brown was not listed on the availability report and could return to the lineup for Ohio State for the first time since before the off week.

If Jones were unable to go for Ohio State, the next man up would likely be Josh Fryar. All five of Ohio State's starting offensive linemen have yet to miss a game this season.
