

In-State OT Trey Leroux Commits To Ohio State

Ohio State continued its in-state recruiting push Monday evening with a commitment from Norwalk offensive tackle Trey Leroux.

The 2020 prospect stands at 6-8 and 320 pounds as a high school junior, adding a needed boost up front for the Buckeyes' next class.

I am proud to announce that I have decided to continue my academic and athletic career at The Ohio State University. Thank you @ryandaytime and staff for the opportunity #GoBucks pic.twitter.com/Kb41jwud23

The Buckeyes got in on Leroux early, becoming one of a few Power 5 programs to extend an offer, which came down March 8 during an unofficial visit to Ohio State that included a meeting with head coach Ryan Day in his office.

After a great talk with coach Day, I am blessed and humbled to receive an offer from THE Ohio State #OH @CoachStudOL @ryandaytime pic.twitter.com/sorofguoAa

As things stand, Leroux is the nation's No. 911 overall prospect and No. 91 offensive tackle, according to 247Sports, and he doesn't not yet have a composite ranking. That said, he's likely to see a boost in that ranking as the process continues.

Leroux is Ohio State's seventh commitment for 2020 and the fourth offensive line commit in the class, joining Cincinnati St. Xavier five-star tackle Paris Johnson, Montvale (N.J.) St. Joseph Regional four-star center Luke Wypler and Cincinnati Elder three-star tackle Jakob James.
