

Ohio State-Wisconsin On Oct. 28 Reportedly Kicking Off In Primetime On NBC

According to the Action Network's Brett McMurphy, Ohio State's road contest at Wisconsin on Oct. 28 will reportedly be under the lights, with the game set for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff on NBC.

The game will be highlighted as part of NBC and Peacock's Big Ten Saturday Night, which will broadcast a conference game in primetime during every week of the regular season. Ohio State will also be featured on Nov. 11, when Michigan State travels to Ohio Stadium for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

NBC's B1G schedule, sources told @ActionNetworkHQ, if no games flexed to different networks. All times ET

Sept 23 Maryland at Mich St 3:30 pm
Sept 30 Illinois at Purdue 7:30 pm
Oct 7 Purdue at Iowa 7:30 pm
Oct 14 Iowa at Wisconsin 3:30 pm
Oct 21 Minnesota at Iowa 3:30 pm
Oct 21...

— Brett McMurphy (@Brett_McMurphy) July 26, 2023

Along with the contest against the Spartans, Ohio State has already announced that the team's road trip at Notre Dame on Sept. 23 will be broadcast at 7:30 p.m. on NBC. Other announced kickoff times include at Indiana on Sept. 2 (3:30 p.m., CBS), Youngstown State on Sept. 9 (12 p.m., BTN), Western Kentucky on Sept. 16 (4 p.m., FOX) and Michigan on Nov. 25 (12 p.m., FOX).

Ohio State has won the last nine games against Wisconsin, including the last two in Madison, Wisc. The teams last met up on the Badgers' home turf on Oct. 15, 2016, in a 30-23 win for the Buckeyes.

This time around, Wisconsin will be welcoming in Ohio State to face new head coach Luke Fickell, who played for the Buckeyes from 1992-96 and coached at Ohio State from 2002-2016, including a one-year stint as interim head coach.