The 6-3, 190-pound Harrison is considered the 15th-best wide receiver and No. 91 prospect overall in the class of 2021, as he caught 144 passes for 2,624 yards and 37 touchdowns (both of which are city records) to lead the Hawks to three straight state titles. He is the son of the Pro Football Hall of Fame wide receiver with the same name.

Harrison's pledge in Oct. 2019 came as no surprise after the Buckeyes landed a commitment six months earlier from his teammate, five-star quarterback Kyle McCord. The two made a pair of trips to Columbus together, including for the annual spring game that April. That connection will now continue in college.

Harrison - who committed to Ohio State over offers from programs such as Florida, LSU, Michigan, Michigan State, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Texas A&M, Virginia Tech and West Virginia - is joined in his class at the wide receiver position by Steilacoom, Wash., five-star Emeka Egbuka and Massillon (Ohio) Washington four-star Jayden Ballard.
