

Tyleik Williams Reportedly Available To Play Against Michigan State

Ohio State defensive tackle Tyleik Williams will be available to play against Michigan State on Saturday according to Pete Thamel of ESPN.

Sources: Ohio State star defensive tackle Tyleik Williams will be available at Michigan State on Saturday night. He missed the game against Marshall with an undisclosed injury.
pic.twitter.com/VuvbcsAUOS

— Pete Thamel (@PeteThamel) September 27, 2024

Williams missed last week's 49-14 win over Marshall, being ruled out hours before the game with an undisclosed injury.

In his place was Hero Kanu to start the game, but there was a rotation of many backups to take his spot, including Kayden McDonald, Jason Moore and Tywone Malone, who both Ryan Day and Jim Knowles said they were very happy with against the Thundering Herd.

In the first two games of the season, Williams has totaled nine tackles, two for loss and 1½ sacks on a defensive line that could be one of the best in the country if the four starters are able to remain healthy.